Neil Rudenstine Is Not a Candidate To Be University's Next President

He just isn't interested in the job. Neil Rudenstine, Princeton University's provost, told an interviewer for the magazine, "Prospect," that he doesn't want to be president of Princeton University.

He was Acting President in September and October when President William Bowen was on leave in California, and the talk around campus and among alumni has been that he is next in line for the president's job. Dr. Bowen is nearing the end of a decade of service in the office and there has been frequent speculation that he will not continue to hold it for any great length of time. He was reportedly among the candidates for the presidency of both the Ford and the Rockefeller foundations during the past 18 months.

Neil Rudenstine
A Private Life Preferred

"It is a job that would pretty well demolish my private life," said Rudenstine in the interview. "I still read a lot of books, spend a lot of time traveling, go to museums and art galleries. I still play with my children and I like to be lazy occasionally. I do not think you can be president and do all those things."

Dr. Rudenstine said he hadn't read the "Prospect" article, which appeared in the magazine's autumn issue, but he added, "I am quite happy in my current job and as long as people think I can make a contribution, I'll stay in it."

At the same time, "I never set out to be an administrator, and my first instincts are that I'd like to be able to go back to research and teaching."

A graduate of Princeton with the class of 1956, Dr. Rudenstine also holds a B.A. from Oxford University and an M.A. from Harvard. He has a doctorate in literature from Harvard.

He speaks fluent, conversational, colloquial English—American, British, and French. He is a native Italian and French. He was made dean of students at Princeton in 1968, then dean of the college in 1972. Now in his fourth year as provost, he has three main areas of responsibility.

He makes the recommendations for the University's $216 million budget to President Bowen and the trustees. This includes everything from salaries and the teaching budget to the physical plant.

As provost, he also controls the flow of planning—what new libraries, laboratories, additions to the plant will Princeton need one, five, ten years from now?—and relates it to such vital areas as fund raising.

And finally, he has direct oversight of the Firestone Library, Computer Center, Plasma Physics Lab, Art Museum, the entire physical plant including food services and maintenance, plus affirmative action.

New Broom Sweeps Clean: Playhouse To Undergo Demolition on Saturday

The Princeton Playhouse, once described as the motion picture theatre that "brought elegance to Princeton," will yield this Saturday to a wrecking crew.

Demolition of the 43-year-old brick building is expected to be completed on Saturday. After that, it will be about two weeks before all the rubble can be cleared away and the ragged hole filled in.

Palmer Square, Inc. signed a contract Monday with J. Vinch & Sons, Inc., of Trenton to do the job. The construction "clamshell," like some offspring of Jaws, will take big bites out of the building, starting at the rear of the theatre.

Earlier this week, fixtures and memorabilia were removed from the Playhouse. The 1930s style water fountains, certain doors and several seats were taken away for use on the Princeton University campus.

Other seats, projection room equipment, marquee letters, old signs, ticket-stub boxes, heavy brass railings and panelling are being saved at the request of the Arts Council of Princeton. The slate roof will go to the new owners of the Square to be used in repair of other Square buildings.

The Council hopes to have, in late January or early February, a kind of "culture in Princeton" celebration. It would combine a welcome to Collins Development Corporation, which is buying Palmer Square from Princeton University for $17 million, with an auction of various items, like memorabilia from the Playhouse and whatever artifacts might be donated from other cultural institutions in Princeton.

Anne Reeves, president of the Arts Council, toured the Playhouse on its last day—that is, the day before utilities were capped and the house went dark. She and Robert Durkee, the University's vice-president for public affairs, and Leslie Vivian, director of community and regional affairs for the University, noted the various bits and pieces that might be removed for memory's sake.

Meanwhile, Palmer Square, Inc., came in for sharp criticism from at least one Square merchant for darkening the Playhouse before Christmas. Robert Comly, owner of The Silver Shop at Palmer Square, protested that capping the utilities as early as last Thursday made the lower part of the Square dark for evening shoppers.

"It was terrible timing," Mr. Comly declared. "The Playhouse marquee had been lit and it threw a glow over the whole lower Square, and there were lights in the windows of the empty shops on each side."

"It's dangerous to have it dark! I called them to protest, but it didn't do any good. And they want us to be open at night!"

AND I MADE IT MYSELF! The best ornaments on a Christmas tree are the ones made by hand, especially if the hands are your own. Kevin Rorty, 3, hasn't been around for many Christmas trees, but he's caught on fast. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rorty, 308 Western Way, and the Christmas tree is the one at Princeton Co-operative Nursery School in the Lutheran Church.

GRANT ANNOUNCED

For Visiting Authors Program. Declining writing ability is the target of a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation program of Visiting Authors which has received a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Two-week visits to small liberal arts colleges by authors who understand and appreciate the properties of words are sponsored by the program in an effort to stimulate students to read and write eagerly. The National Endowment for the Arts grant matches funds from the Scherman Foundation that will make visits by five authors possible during the next year. Participating colleges will be selected from a nation-wide group of colleges that have previously indicated interest.

Livingston L. Biddle, Jr., chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, announced 123 grants totaling more than half a million dollars to support residencies for writers. The Residencies for Writers program enables non-profit organizations and public institutions from around the country to sponsor residencies and readings by American artists. According to David Wilk, director of the Literature Program, "This category of grants has been substantially broadened this year."

Borough Signs Agreement to Make Possible Commercial Development of 'Dinky' Station

Borough Council and Mayor Robert W. Cawley have signed the agreement with the state allowing development of the "Dinky" station area.

The Township has already signed the agreement. Under the compact, now headed for Trenton and the official seal of approval, Borough and Township will join with Princeton University to find a developer interested in making a proposal.

Various concepts have been proposed, including an office-building with apartments and parking-garage space, a restaurant in an expanded Dinky station, and so on. The Dinky--and this has been a particular concern of municipal officials--will continue to run.

The agreement was signed during a two-part work session which took Council members to Borough Hall on Sunday afternoon because there wasn't enough time to complete the agenda Thursday night.

Funds to Be Sought. Council also affirmed through a resolution its desire to acquire part of the Verbeyst property for a municipal parking garage on South Tulane, if the price is right.

The Borough will apply to Mercer County for $50,000 to make structural improvements in the Borough Hall gym. Money would go for a new roof over the whole building, and similar structural needs. It will be several months before an answer comes back from the county. The money comes from Federal or state sources; the county is simply the channel.

A revolving trust fund, which the Recreation Department believes would ease everybody's budget strictures, is on the agenda for discussion with Township. The Borough thinks it may be a good idea. No decision was reached about lighting for bocci courts.

A local fire code was introduced and public hearing scheduled for Tuesday, December 30, at 8--Council's last meeting of the year. New Jersey, when it adopted a new uniform construction code in 1976, never developed the fire code to go along with it.

This has, technically, left municipalities without a fire code. The new measure makes up for that lack.

MORE ON CABLE TV
Deadline Extended.
"What's in it, for Princeton?" Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley shrugged this week, as he pondered cable TV.

"We get very good TV reception in Princeton, so that's not a valid reason for having it. I think the public hasn't bothered to come to these hearings because, if the dominant use is entertainment, and interactive (two-way) TV will be used in only a minority of cases, it may well be a ho-hum item."

Borough and Township have been granted a deadline extension by the PUC's Office of Cable Television, and now have until January 31 to conclude public hearings. Mayor Cawley thinks the Borough may need more than the two already scheduled -- for January 14 and 19.

In any case, a decision on which of the four companies now in the running (or none of them) will get a franchise must be made 30 days after hearings end. This could be either late in February or early in March, depending on whether extra hearings are scheduled.

For the January 14 meeting, Mayor Cawley and Council want the companies to bring the actual devices that would be in a living-room

Unanswered Questions.
"I've heard what sounds to me like three separate pieces. What do they look like? I'd like to have people able to see them before the hearing."

Regarding local programs, Mayor Cawley says he isn't sure whether Triangle Club, for example, would have wanted its recent production of "Company" on television because of box-office damage. Nor is he sure many people would be eager to watch his own production — a meeting of Borough Council.

CARCHMAN NOMINATED

No Replacement Yet Chosen. Although Borough and Township Magistrate Phillip Carchman has been nominated by Governor Brendan Byrne to be Mercer County Prosecutor, he may have to be nominated all over again when the new legislature takes office after the first of the year.

County prosecutors must receive confirmation by the State Senate, and Borough-Township attorney Edwin Schmierer pointed out this week that a new Senate takes office after January 1. Judge Carchman is expected to be confirmed without difficulty.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said he hopes Borough and Township can once again agree on the same person to serve as Magistrate.

"It's a nice feeling, to think that justice in Princeton is being dispensed evenly," Mayor Cawley commented. Courts are separate in the two municipalities, even though the Magistrate is the same.

What About the White?

Will this Christmas Day
Be white?
So far,
Not a
Flake in sight.

Well, the word is that chances for snow on Christmas are about 50-50, largely because the temperature will be around the freezing mark and that's where it ought to be if precipitation does develop.

However, the Man says, in the event Christmas does turn white, there won't be a whole lot. By and large, skies will be partly sunny, with thermometer readings ranging from the low 20s at night to the mid 30s by day, right through the weekend.

Mayor Cawley said a small group from each governing body will probably screen candidates. He observed that large law firms traditionally do not want any of their members appointed to the post because the whole firm is then automatically forbidden to represent a client before any joint or municipal agency. The magistrate is technically a part-time employee of the municipality.

If Magistrate Carchman is sworn in as county prosecutor before Borough and Township have a replacement, they will call in magistrates from surrounding communities to hold court in the Princetons.

Great Road East and struck a guard rail.

At 8:24, Ellen Smith of Neshanic Station struck a fire hydrant after her car began to skid on Herrontown Road, damaging the front end. Then, at 9:55, Halleck B. Janssen of Lawrenceville was sitting in his parked car in the Princeton Packet lot at 300 Witherspoon Street when a car driven by William Mutschler, 62 Washington Road, entered, skidded on the snow and struck the Janssen car when its wheels locked.

The car of Sophia Durbetaki, 698 Rosedale Road, had to be towed when it skidded rounding a curve on Province Line Road and struck a tree 500 feet from Rosedale Road at 10 o'clock.

Twenty-two minutes later, Leonard D. Baumert of Fox Run Drive, Plainshoro, skidded on Dodds Lane as he approached a curve near Bertrand Drive. His car went over the curb and struck a utility pole, cracking it in two on impact.

Mr. Baumert escaped injury but his car had to be towed from the scene.

MUPPETS COMING!

In Holiday Movie. Two special week-end showings of "The Muppet Movie" will be on McCarter's screen this Saturday; the first is scheduled for 11 a.m. and the second for 2.

This is the feature film debut of the Muppets. The story has Kermit the Frog traveling to Hollywood, joined along the way by his Muppet pals—Miss Piggy, Fozzie Bear, The Great Gonzo and Camilla the Chicken.

The plot thickens as two wicked, wicked people try to capture Kermit and force him to be a spokesman for Doc Hopper's Fast-Food Chain of Restaurants. The chain is promoting, needless to say, French-fried frogs' legs.

HEAVENLY SHOWS

At State Museum. A special program for small children and two programs for older people are scheduled by the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium for holiday showing.

The "Tots and Stars" program designed to introduce youngsters of kindergarten age (and even younger) to the planetarium and the wonders of astronomy will be presented at 1 p.m. on Friday, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 29, 30 and 31, and Friday, January 2.

The two programs for older people (children under 7 not admitted) will be "Cosmos: The Voyage to the Stars," a multi-media show developed around key elements of the "Cosmos" television series, and "Winter Skies of New Year's," a simulation of the celestial sights visible on a clear evening.

"Cosmos" will be presented at 2 each day (except New Year's) from December 26 through January 4 and also at 4 on Saturdays and Sundays during that period. "Winter Skies" will be presented at 3 each day (except New Year's) from December 26 through January 4.

Admission to the planetarium is free. Tickets are distributed first come, first served beginning half an hour before each show.

MADRIGAL SINGERS DUE

At Alexander Hall. The Princeton Madrigal Society, under the leadership of Laura Lane, will present a concert on Saturday, January 10, at 8:30 in Alexander Hall. The concert is sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton and is open to the public, admission free.

The majority of the Madrigal Singers are affiliated with Princeton University. The group was formed by Nina Gilbert '76, a music major at Princeton, and made its debut at the University Art Museum in April 1976. Since then, the P.M.S. has given concerts at Westminster Choir College, Vassar, Dartmouth, Wheaton, Yale and several other schools and churches.

Peter Urquhart, who led the group in 1976-77, expanded its repertoire to include music from the Renaissance to the 20th century. The current conductor, Laura Lane, is a graduate of Washington University where she received degrees in both French and Music. She is now a graduate student in conducting at Westminster Choir College.

The program of the January 10 concert will include works by Mouton, Palestrina, Josquin, Dowland, Monteverdi, Vaughan Williams and Britten.

QUARTET BOOKED

With Piano Soloist, Lilian Kallir, pianist, and the Emerson String Quartet will appear in Series II of the Princeton University Concerts on Monday, January 5, at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. Menahem Pressler, the Israeli-American pianist, was originally scheduled to perform in this concert but because of illness is unable to come and Miss Kallir agreed to appear.

A favorite soloist of such conductors as von Karajan, Leinsdorf, Kondrashin, Giulini, Skrowaczewski and Jochum, Miss Kallir appears frequently with the world's leading ensembles, including the orchestras of Berlin, Amsterdam, London, Leipzig, Geneva, New York, Boston and Chicago. A renowned chamber musician, Miss Kallir has performed with many distinguished ensembles, among them the Juilliard and Cleveland Quartets.

A native of Prague, she came to this country at an early age. She studied at the Mannes School of Music and at 16 won both the National Music League Award and the American Artists Award of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences. She made her debut the following year with the New York Philharmonic.

The Emerson String Quartet includes violinists Philip Setzer and Eugene Drucker; Lawrence Dutton, viola and David Finckel, cello, all graduates of the Juilliard School. The quartet won the Naumburg Award for Chamber Music in 1978, and gave their prize concert in Alice Tully Hall in March 1979. It has appeared on such chamber music series as those at the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution, New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Morgan Library, the Cleveland Museum of Art and the Kennedy Center. The quartet has been in residence

CHOIR TO BENEFIT

From Skating Party. An ice skating party for the benefit of the Princeton High School Choir will be held at the Lawrenceville School rink on Saturday, January 3, from 8:30-10:30 p.m. All proceeds will go to support the choir's participation at the next annual meeting of the American Choral Director's Association in New Orleans in March of 1981.

The Lawrenceville rink is well suited for this event because of the opportunity to relax with hot drinks and snacks in front of a large fireplace, in addition to ideal skating conditions on the rink.

Tickets are available from choir members for $3; information about tickets may be obtained by calling 924-1843

GOLD CHAINS GRABBED
By Shoplifter. Two gold chains, one valued at $750, were grabbed last week from a display case by a shoplifter, who then ran from the Edward's Jewelry store in the Princeton Shopping Center. Police said that the $750 chain was a heavy rope design, 16 inches long; the

NASSAU STORE ROBBED

Four Are Charged. Two Borough residents and two Lawrence Township juveniles have been charged by Borough police, following a break-in at Center Business Machines, 104 Nassau Street.

John L. Brown, 20, 12 Pine Street, has been charged with burglary and theft and with possession of stolen property; Wayne Hoggard, 22, 7 Lytle Street, has been charged with possession of stolen property. The two juveniles were issued juvenile complaint summonses and released to their parents.

As outlined by Capt. Theodore Lewis, the incident is complicated and also involves a stolen car. It began at 2:38 Sunday morning when Sgt. Timothy Huizing, on patrol on Witherspoon Street, saw a man exit from the Tulane-Witherspoon parking yard next to Community Liquors. Sgt. Huizing drove into the lot and observed another man running toward it, carrying two radios.

Two suspects fled up Dohm's Alley adjacent to Zinder's. A third, carrying the radios, ran in the opposite direction. He was pursued by Sgt. Huizing and apprehended behind Rosso's Bar on Spring Street.

The two radios, valued at $225, which had been dropped on Spring Street, were recovered. As Sgt. Huizing was transporting the suspect — later identified as Brown — to headquarters, he heard an alarm. An investigation revealed that a six-foot square display window at Center Business Machines had been broken by a brick.

At police headquarters, while Brown was being processed, police received a 2:41 call reporting that a 1974 Cadillac, with its engine running, had been stolen from outside Ivy Inn on Nassau Street.

It was located a short time later in the Park Place lot.

Police informed the owner, a Twin Rivers resident, that they intended to have the car towed but the owner asked them not to.

As Ptl. Randy Sutton, who had gone to a police call box at Nassau and Charlton for instructions, was returning to the Park Place lot, the Cadillac passed him on Park Place going in the opposite direction.

Ptl. Sutton pursued the car north on Route 27, and police from neighboring communities were alerted. With Franklin Township and South Brunswick police assisting,

Our once-a-year sale.
If you miss it,
you'll have to wait until 1982.

From December 26 to January 31 practically everything is 10% to 40% off regular prices.

Here it is. The stupendous furniture sale you've been waiting for the whole year. The once-a-year sale when we mark down practically everything in the whole store from 10% to 40%.

What's everything? Our regular stuff. You see, we don't bring in so called specials or stock up on things that no one wants at regular prices the way a lot of other places do. Instead we take our best stuff—and that includes our butcher block tables, upholstery, storage systems, music benches, desks, bedrooms, chairs and marvelous accessories.

Sleek and simple, our versatile bar cart in solid oak with a 2" thick butcherblock top and ball casters.

Of course, there are some things, like brand new items and stuff that's oversold, that we don't put on sale. (But then no one is totally perfect.)

But, what is on sale is amazing. So don't miss out. Because, to the best of our knowledge (and we've done a lot of checking), we're the only furniture store we know that has only one storewide sale a year. Which means if you miss it, you'll have to wait all the way until 1982 to get bargains like these again. And by 1982, who knows where prices will be.

the chase ended when the suspect car struck a North Brunswick police car on Route 27 and St. Claire Blvd. The driver, a 15-year old juvenile and its passenger, Hoggard, were turned over to Borough police.

At headquarters, police learned that another 13-year old juvenile at 7 Lytle Street was involved in the theft on Nassau. Police went to the Lytle address and said they recovered a $175 radio cassette player that had been stolen from the Center Store.

According to Capt. Lewis, the two juveniles allegedly involved in the theft went to 7 Lytle Street after escaping down Dohm Alley, where they met Hoggard. They had apparently stolen the car earlier. The 15-year old told Hoggard he had a car and suggested they go for a ride.

HOME IS ENTERED

On Linden Lane. A home on Linden Lane was entered Thursday between 5 and 11:14 p.m. by someone who used a crow bar to break a lock on a cellar door. Taken, police said, were a police scanner and a box filled with stainless steel kitchen utensils.

Cap and Gown Club on Prospect Avenue was entered early Saturday morning by way of a forced rear cellar door.

Once inside, the intruders pried open a soda vending machine, taking approximately $10 in change. In addition, they forced open a juke box and removed its cash box, pried open a storage cabinet and tampered with some beer kegs.

Township police report an attempted entry Saturday into a Tyson Lane residence. Ptl. William Potts found marks on the front and rear doors and both door jambs were damaged. No entry was gained, however.

ON THE UPSWING ...

Drinking by Juveniles. "Alcohol seems to be on a big upswing here. We're getting a lot of kids under the influence, particularly the last three to four months," commented Township Juvenile Officer Jerry Offredo.

He made the observation, after reporting that two 14-year old Township youths had been found this month by Princeton University proctors one unconscious - in the Magic Apartments parking lot off Faculty Road. Between them, they had consumed a quart of vodka.

The unconscious youth was taken by the First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center. The other was first taken to police headquarters and then also transported to the Medical center.

Both had big hangovers the next day, police said. The investigation is being continued by Det. Offredo.

BLUE SPRUCE STOLEN

From Westcott Road Lawn. An eight-foot Blue Spruce was cut down during the night last week and removed from the front lawn of a Westcott Road home. Police said the tree was valued at $100.

Two stereo speakers valued at $120 and three tapes ($15) were stolen from the sports car of a N. Harrison Street resident while it was parked in a Westminster Choir College lot off Walnut Lane. The theft took place, police said, between 10 Friday night and 1:15 a.m. Saturday morning.

A full-length Harris tweed coat was removed from a coat rack Friday afternoon while the victim--a Titusville resident--was dining at the Nassau Inn. It is valued at $200.

A thief entered the open garage of a Hamilton Street resident last week and stole a boy's 10-speed bicycle. Described as in poor condition, the bike was valued at $15.

THREE ARE NAMED

As Rhodes Scholars. Two Princeton University seniors have been named winners of Rhodes Scholarships this year. Kevin G. Anderson, 21, of Delaware, Ohio, and Craig A. Canine, 22, of Des Moines, Iowa, are among the 32

American college students whose names were announced Saturday.

The scholarships, among the most prestigious awarded to college graduates, provide an annual stipend of roughly $8,400 for two years of study at Oxford University. Selection is on the basis of intellectual attainment, character, leadership and physical vigor.

Mr. Anderson is a student in Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, concentrating on domestic politics and policies. Awarded the Wilson School's Aaron Austin Godfrey, Class of 1963, Memorial Scholarship Prize for thesis research last summer, he is writing his senior thesis on a legal and policy analysis of the use of undercover investigative techniques in political corruption cases. Mr. Anderson plans to study international affairs at Oxford and then hopes to pursue a career in government.

Mr. Canine is an English major at Princeton and will study for an honors B.A. degree in English language and literature at Oxford. Interested in a career in writing, he has contributed reviews to the Nassau Weekly and column to the Daily Princetonian, both student publications. Last summer he

LET'S TALK ABOUT

CURE FOR THE "ST. SWITHIN'S DAY BLUES"

with Sam De Turo

Woodwinds Associates

There are those of us who find St. Swithin's Day mildly depressing. Traditionally the day to take down your Christmas tree, it serves to remind us once again of the prices we have paid lately for such short-term enjoyment! Take heart! You'll be glad to know that there are many good uses for that tree around the garden.

The first thing you might do is use the tree as a mulch - cut off the boughs and place them, curved ends up, around planting beds when the ground is free from snow. This will help reduce ground temperature fluctuation which causes frost "heaving."

You might also construct a "teepee" of branches to help protect tender plants such as Laurel, Cotoneaster and hybrid Azalea.

You might consider stripping the needles from branches and scattering them beneath such acid-loving plants as Azalea, Rhododendron, Andromeda and Laurel.

WOODWINDS thinks the nicest thing you can do, however, is to use your tree as a bird feeder! Simply set it up in your yard after Christmas and tie pieces of suet, popcorn, or other food morsels to the outer branches, use dabs of peanut butter, too. (Firs are ideal for this purpose, as they tend to hold their needles longer than other varieties.) Remember to keep a pail of water nearby for birds must have water as well as food.

ALL TREES AT WOODWINDS ASSOCIATES ARE GUARANTEED TO BE THE BEST IN THE NEW YEAR.

The LANDAU Philosophy

(It's Really Quite Simple)

PART XVII

THE PROBLEM: How does a store "shout" about the incredible features of a unique new product?

Many stores "shout" so frequently and so loudly about "fantastic" and "terrific" new products, it is difficult for consumers to sift the truths from the untruths, out of all the "noise."

THE LANDAU SOLUTION: We inform quietly and let the product "shout" for itself.

At Landau's, we have a great "new" product, the Icelandic wool-filled comforter.

We have only been importing these quilts from Iceland for the past 18 months, the Icelanders, however, have been sleeping under them for 1100 years.

The first six comforters we received were tested by Landau employees. The next 18 pieces were sold to "energy" conscious consumers. The reaction to these first 24 was unbelievable. The next several hundred pieces were purchased primarily by people hearing about the product through a friend (the only limitation to our starting a real "sleeping revolution" has been inadequate supply.)

Come in and we will inform you of all the particulars about the Icelandic comforters. We won't shout, we'll tell you how great they are and let you read what other customers have said about them.

These comforters are fantastic, terrific, unbelievable, wonderful, comfortable, economical, functional, it's that simple.

worked on the editorial staff of the Iowan magazine and wrote a number of articles for that publication.

In addition, Susan Billington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Billington of Washington, D.C., formerly of Princeton, was named a Rhodes Scholar.

A graduate of Sidwell Friends School in Washington, D.C. and Yale University, Miss Billington attended public schools and Princeton Day School here before moving with her family to Washington. Her father is a former professor in the History Department at Princeton University who is currently the director of the Center for International Scholars at the Woodrow Wilson Institute for Advanced Study at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

TRENTON MAN CHARGED With Drunk Driving. John F. Paulaski, 42, of Trenton, has been charged by Ptl. John Seeley with drunk driving, after he was involved in an accident early Thursday evening on lower Alexander Street.

According to police, the Pauloski car crossed the center line and plowed into the guard rail, uprooting 30 feet of rail and posts before coming to rest against the Alexander Street bridge. His car had to be towed from the scene.

Uninjured, Paulaski was taken to headquarters where he was given a Breathalyzer test and later released in $25 bail.

OWL PROWL SET
By Watersheds Group. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association will sponsor an "Owl Prowl" led by Prof. Otto Heck of the Trenton State College Biology Department on Saturday, January 10.

All interested persons should meet at 9 in Stockton, New Jersey, in front of Errico's Grocery Store on Main Street (just west of Route 29). Cars will be consolidated and some left in a nearby parking lot. For more information, call Patricia Venable, at the Watersheds office, 737-3735.

Snow Removal Favored.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have written to members of Princeton Township Committee:

It has been reported that you are contemplating suspension of community clearing of sidewalk snow. Machine snow removal has been one of the outstandingly useful and beneficial services provided by the Township and I hope that it will be continued.

A major reason to justify continuation is efficiency. The machine clears a resident sidewalk in a matter of minutes; for most families it is a substitute for manual shoveling which requires up to an hour or more for the same distance. Because most of us have other snow to remove, from driveways, walks, steps, etc., the added manual effort for sidewalks would be a great burden. Compared to the cost of hired manual shoveling, the machine service saves Township residents money.

A second reason for continuation is that the job gets done. One only needs to walk from Township to Borough after a snow to notice that, after Township walks are clear, some 30 percent or more of the Borough walks are still covered.

Each day that passes makes the impacted and re-frozen parts of the Borough's unremoved snow more difficult to clear and more dangerous to walk on. In addition, when a Township homeowner is away, knowledge that the job will be done is a tremendous relief.

A third reason for the machine clearing is that it is a unique communal service; like the plowing of the streets, it is not practical to contract for such a service on an individual basis. Sidewalk plowing is at least as important as street plowing; energy conservation suggests that walking should be even more encouraged than driving.

A fourth reason to continue this community service is that enforcement of the alternative, which relies upon individual responsibility, adds a hidden cost which may be appreciable.

Finally, I address the question of whether Township funds should be used for sidewalk snow removal. The sidewalks are, after all, Township property. Also, the Princeton Township taxpayer, with rare exceptions, is able to deduct part or all of the local tax from income in paying Federal tax.

Thus, if snow removal is added to the local tax, it is not a 100 percent burden. On the contrary, if the service is purchased individually, it is a 100 percent expenditure of after-tax dollars.

In conclusion, please do not change the present arrangement for sidewalk snow removal.

Ground-level Parking Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
How lucky Princeton is to have such a delightful "downtown" — fascinating shops, attractive Inn and stimulating Library.

The nearby ground-level parking, which suits the Princeton residents who use all these, is a priceless treasure in 1980. Depriving Princeton of this feature of its life and substituting a high-rise garage may well drive the shopper to outlying areas or to the "mail order houses" (and the taxpayer to outlying areas, too!).

Cannot the elderly be granted greater open space, such as that near the Princeton Shopping Center, where they could walk and sit in fresher air — at the same time being within easy reach of a variety of stores and of bus lines into town?

The elderly would surely profit by a quieter environment, more suited to their age. The merchants would surely be better off if residents still wanted to drive into town for shopping. The Library could remain a cultural civic asset, with continued easy access.

All this, if proper distribution of land use is maintained.

An Appreciation.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Rev. Dr. John Marks, chairman of the Religion Department at Princeton University, has done an excellent job as Acting Dean of the Princeton University Chapel between the tenancies of Dean Gordon, which ended last summer, and that of Dean Borsh, which begins this January 1st.

Dr. Marks is a superb liturgist and it has been a pleasure to see him in that role. He is a thoughtful preacher, and it has been good to see him in that role more frequently. Dr. Marks has taken us behind the scenes in his sermons; in one sermon he explained why the text he had chosen was the most reliable, and in another he gave the Jewish background.

We look forward with great hope to Dean Borsh's coming, but we look backward with gratitude to the job Dr. Marks has done.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As the mother of a classmate of Cindy Brooks both at the Princeton Day School and at Wellesley College, I was horrified at the blow dealt her by your erroneous printing of her name as a shoplifter. While none of us who know Cindy ever considered the possibility of her guilt, we were nonetheless relieved that you intended to publish a correction.

I am, however, appalled at the placement of that retraction in this week's paper, tucked in near the bottom of a column on page 2. It would seem to me that with two-thirds of your front page taken up by articles about Santa's elves and the nostalgic reminiscences of an Olde Tiger about Princeton as it used to be, you were not so muddled with hot news that you could not have run the correction in a box on the front page. Cindy's story is Princeton-as-it-is-today, and as such deserves front page placement.

Navy Seaman Recruit Neal D. Collier, son of Ralph and Helen Martinson, RD 4, has graduated with honors from recruit training at the San Diego Naval Training Center.

He was commended for his outstanding performance in all phases of training, which included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, close order drill, first aid and naval history. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

A 1977 graduate of The Choate School, Wallingford, CT, Collier reported to the San Diego Naval Training Center in September.

David H. Barnes of 8 Merion Place, Lawrenceville earned a varsity letter for his participation on the men's soccer team at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me.

Margaret G. Whittaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whittaker of 10 Beech Hill Circle and a senior at Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Pa., is one of 12 Cedar Crest students to be named to the 1981 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A 1977 graduate of Princeton High School, she is president of Sigma Tau Delta, national English honorary fraternity, and has served as senior class representative to the recreation board and as a resident assistant.

Kenneth Stevenson of 10 Princeton Avenue, Hopewell, is a co-recipient of the Eduardo Lopez Award in soccer at the Hun School. The award was presented at the annual fall sports banquet at which William Muse, head soccer coach at Princeton University, spoke.

Dr. Donald Ecroyd, 158 Carter Road, professor of speech and director of the speech component in the English Language Enrichment Center at Temple University, has been named incoming editor of Communication Education, the national journal of the Speech Communication Association. Dr. Ecroyd gives the "Readings Over Coffee" at the Public Library from September to May, a program he has conducted since 1963.

Scott Waterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley C. Waterman Jr. of 140 Snowden Lane, has been selected as an Alumni Scholar at The Hun School.

Waterman, a senior, was one of five students to receive the honor, which includes a scholarship award. An honors student, Waterman is a member of the football, wrestling and lacrosse varsity teams.

Suzanne Tassie, an Ithaca College TV-Radio sophomore, is serving as a staff-member of The Ithacan, the student weekly newspaper. Miss Tassie is the daughter of Mrs. Brogan Tassie of 7 Edgestown Road, and is a '79 graduate of Stuart Country Day School.

Palmer Square: First Conceived in 1906, Built 30 Years Later

PALMER SQUARE, 1980: This view is similar to the one seen in Vol. I, NO. 1 in March, 1946, as TOWN TOPICS' masthead. In the TOWN TOPICS view, the tower of Princeton University's Holder Hall is visible at the upper right. The view symbolizes "town end gown."

Palmer Square's colonial appearance doesn't date to the Revolution but only to the 1930's, when 12 square blocks of ramshackle buildings were razed and a new "municipal center" was erected in their place.

The renovation of the heart of Princeton had been under discussion at least since 1906, and in 1925 an organization was established under the guiding hand of Edgar Palmer, a 1903 graduate of Princeton University, to create a new downtown environment. Called Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., the new enterprise hired New York architect Andrew J. Thomas — designer of the buildings in Rockefeller Center — to draw up plans for a square, and instructed the real estate firm of G.R. Murray to begin acquiring properties.

Although the project moved along fairly smoothly, there were a few snags along the way. Renovation plans were unveiled in February 1929, but the onset of the Depression delayed construction; work on new buildings did not begin until 1936. A few property owners held up plans by balking at the prices offered them. And from the beginning there was protest over the destruction of the old Nassau Inn, an historic landmark that had stood since before the Revolution.

A Look Back, William A. McWhirter, now in the London Bureau of Time Magazine, described the area in a Daily Princetonian article of December 13, 1960.

"Before 1936," he wrote, "a freshman could find almost anything on his first trip across Nassau Street — from circus posters to harrel staves for his room to a large glass of beer (with no questions asked)."

"The area, which looked more like a mining town than a university community, was clustered around the old Nassau Inn

"It was little more than blocks of unpainted houses and barns selling gasoline, hardware and rusted appliances. Beside mud roads that froze in winter and rutted in spring was an occasional grass spot that never turned green"

Vanishing Nostalgia. Completion of the new Nassau Inn (then known as the Nassau Tavern Hotel) was celebrated with a gala opening in 1937. The design, and the incorporation into the new building of elements of the old inn (such as the tables carved by generations of Princeton students), put to rest any lingering nostalgia for the original hotel.

The Norman Rockwell "Yankee Doodle" mural behind the bar of the tap room was also a hit — at least among the men; women were officially excluded. There is no record of anyone in the early years protesting the policy reserving the tap room for "our guests who may enjoy their wine in peace and speak freely of Politics and suchlike subjects of peculiar interest to the Male." Eventually, however, the aura of discrimination became clear and women have long been welcome there.

The Princeton Playhouse opened a few months later with a showing of "The Awful Truth," featuring Irene Dunne and Cary Grant.

Edgar Palmer is said to have conceived of the project, small colonial style shops with apartments overhead, after several talks with John D. Rockefeller, Jr. In the mid-1920s, Rockefeller had begun a quiet program of property acquisition in Williamsburg, which in turn led to the restoration of Virginia's 18th-century capital city beginning in 1927.

Merchants began moving into the new quarters along the square. Many of the original tenants are still there, including LaVake's, Clayton's, Skirm's, the Nassau Delicatessen and G.R. Murray Insurance. Other shops and professional firms followed in the 1940s and '50s: Applegate Floral, Princeton Decorating, the Town Shop, Josef Borg, the English Shop, Smith, Stratton, Wise and Heher, and Laidlaw, Adams and Peck.

Although originally known as the Municipal Center, the Square was renamed for Edgar Palmer following a poll of Princeton residents. Palmer himself had suggested that the square be named in honor of Woodrow Wilson, who had been president of Princeton University, as well as President of the United States, but he placed second in the voting. The bronze tiger at the head of the square was erected in honor of Palmer and dedicated in 1944

Progress on Verbeyst Appraisal Reported

Following a 10 a.m. meeting Monday with Louis Verbeyst, part of whose property the Borough hopes to acquire for a parking garage, the Borough's attorney, Edwin W. Schmierer, said he was "very encouraged."

"We can now prepare our formal appraisal, and then sit down and discuss that figure with Mr. Verbeyst," Mr. Schmierer said. "It was a very amicable, very positive meeting."

Monday was the deadline under a "preliminary entry" notice which the Borough had obtained under the condemnation law because the Borough's appraiser, Joseph Martin, had been denied admission to the Verbeyst property.

Mr. Martin, with Mr. Schmierer and Mr. Verbeyst, toured the property Monday. Mr. Martin is now working over his figures, and is expected to report within a few days.

The Borough is interested only in the so-called "tin shed" whose front is occupied by John's Shoe Repair and Johnson Electric. The rear is used for storage and upholstery cleaning. The present office and plant of the Verbeyst dry-cleaning establishment would remain.

PSI has been stipulating that merchants who are its tenants be open in the evenings for holiday shoppers. "I hope," Mr. Comly added, "that we can now deal with new owners who are business people and who know what merchants' problems are."

Generally, Palmer Square merchant tenants said they were very pleased with what they've heard about Collins. Carol Allen, who owns Milady, said "I'm sincerely delighted with Collins. The more stores they bring in, the better."

"Super! Great!" exclaimed Sam Kind, who owns LaVake's. "I hope it means lots and lots of quality stores that will stay open longer hours and give customers what they want."

Both Mr. Kind and Tom Brophy, of the shoe store, said they hope to meet with Arthur Collins to exchange ideas. "I hope we can have the kind of mutual feed-back that hasn't existed in the past," Mr. Brophy said.

Anonymity Requested. Negative feelings prefer anonymity. Merchants who had reservations about the new owners preferred not to be identified. One said he was afraid that more stores meant more traffic, and he feared also that new buildings might house expensive offices for stock-brokers, lawyers and doctors, rather than the shops that might bring more business.

Another said he did not see how Collins could make any money simply by bringing in new stores and, perhaps, raising the rents of stores now there. He predicted that apartments now in the Square would be converted to condominium ownership eventually. He also pointed to the

"A Testimonial"

Dec. 3, 1980

Londau,

I own a poncho and gloves purchased from your store. They are marvelous for their warmth—and good looking, too.

I referred you to a relative of mine who purchased the queen size comforter. She raved about it so much I purchased one last year. It is wonderful! It is like being in a cocoon of your own—a cocoon of warmth. I am now ordering another one for a relative—to try to convince him of getting rid of four blankets.

Thank you!

Sincerely yours,

Janette M. Porter

Gustav N. Behrens of 56 Lillie Street, Princeton Junction, marked his 90th birthday this month looking some 25 years younger and remembering in detail a trip around the world he made in his early 20's.

Mr. Behrens was born December 8, 1890, in a small town on the Kiel canal which connects the North Sea with the Baltic Sea in northern Germany. At 21 he left home in search of adventure and made his way to Hamburg, where he found work in a shipyard. Watching the ships come and go in the busy port rekindled his yearning for travel, and he signed aboard the S.S. Cleveland as a stoker.

Chartered for an around the world cruise in 1912-13, the S.S. Cleveland sailed to New York to pick up her complement of passengers and for the next nine months made her way through the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal into the Indian Ocean, the South China Sea, the Pacific Ocean to San Francisco, stopping at various points of interest on the way. He remembers Jerusalem gleaming in the sun; Hong Kong, Kobe and Nagasaki, Japan, where he had a wall hanging made in silk showing the flags of many of the countries in which he had visited on shore leave.

Mr. Behrens made another long cruise with the S.S. Cleveland all around the Mediterranean Sea — he saw Mt. Vesuvius emitting smoke — before returning to Hamburg where he was assigned to the Vaterland, another passenger ship. About this time, America declared war on Germany, and as the Vaterland sailed neatly into a Hudson River berth unassisted, she was confiscated by American authorities and the men told they could stay on American soil if they wished.

Become a U.S. Citizen. Mr. Behrens stayed in Hoboken initially and worked on a new American battleship on her trial run. Later, he came to Princeton to see if the Dohrn family here were related to the Dohrns of his home town in Germany. They were not, but they hired the young man to work on their farm off Province Line until he could obtain his citizenship papers. Mr. Behrens also worked at

A LOOK BACK AT 90: Gustave Behrens, who celebrated his 90th birthday this month, sits in front of his most prized possession, a silk wall hanging he had made in Japan on an around the world voyage he took as a stoker aboard the S.S. Cleveland in 1912-13. The banner shows the flags of the countries he visited and includes a portrait of the S.S. Cleveland and of himself at the time.

Schirmer's Dairy Farm on Breuere's Hill — where the White Farm is today. The foreman was a Scot named Galloway who taught him English and helped him get a driver's license so he could drive the truck to deliver the milk to the Lawrenceville School and stops in between. Other jobs included working at the Arcade Theatre (where the Hudibras is now) and serving as chauffeur for Alexander Benson on Mountain Avenue for six years.

Mr. Behrens also made a trip to Los Angeles and Hollywood in a Model T Ford and worked in Nebraska wheatfields for a time before returning to Princeton. He built his own home on Cherry Hill Road in 1928 and lived there until 1970, when he moved to Princeton Junction. His first wife died in 1913, and in 1946 he married Beatrice Brooks of Florida, whose husband had also died.

Mr. Behrens's parents came from Germany to visit him in 1936, and he made one trip back to his native land in 1953. The 90th birthday was celebrated with the traditional ice cream and birthday cake and visits from friends.

Amy Fox, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederic Fox of 28 Vandeventer Avenue and a junior at Denison University in Granville, Ohio, has been spending the fall semester studying off campus. She is participating in the GLCA-Philadelphia Urban Semester Program and will return to Denison in the spring. She graduated from Princeton High School in 1978.

Also studying off-campus is Heather Luchak, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Luchak of 59 Maclean Circle. Miss Luchak, also a junior at Denison, is participating in the Franklin College program in Switzerland.

Navy Senior Chief Boat-swain's Mate Val T. Fischer, son of John and Jessie Fischer of 934 Alexander Road, Princeton Junction, has reported for duty at the Naval Station, Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico. He joined the Navy in January, 1963.

Ralph W. Cummlings Jr. of 54 Marion Road East is the co-author with Sterling Wortman of a book entitled "To Feed This World," published by the Johns Hopkins University Press.

Mr. Cummings is a program officer at the International Development Service, of which his co-author is president. The book asserts that it is possible to feed the hungry people of the world. The authors point out that the technology to increase land production is now available and the ways to implement it are known, but what is needed is a commitment to make the effort.

As part of the strategy, the authors favor the small farm rather than the large agribusiness operation, arguing that this approach relieves both hunger and poverty. "To Feed This World" also includes a history of agriculture, a world perspective on available physical resources and an assessment of political difficulties, as well as a detailed account of the current status of agricultural technology, a look at some neglected crops and a description of successful programs.

OBITUARIES

Horace S. Sassman Sr., 77, of Ridge Road, Kingston, died December 18 in Middlesex General Hospital, New Brunswick.

Mr. Sassman was born in Tincum, Pa., and had lived in Kingston since 1925. He founded the Horace S. Sassman Mason Contractors in 1923 and was active as a mason until his retirement in 1967.

Husband of the late Fannie Sassman, he is survived by two sons, Horace S. Sassman Jr. and William R. Sassman, both of Kingston; two daughters, Mrs. Frances Hughes of Melrose, Fla., and Mrs. Shirley Seavey of Keyport; five brothers, Samuel Sassman and Llewellyn Sassman, both of Princeton, George Sassman of Plainsboro, Raymond Sassman of New Brunswick and Edward Sassman of Lawrenceville; three sisters, Mrs. Ida Tash and Mrs. Annie Strode, both of Princeton, and Mrs. Beatrice Draubkowski of Kingston; 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The service was held in the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, the Rev. John Heinsohn of the Kingston Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery.

Mrs. Blanche L. King, 82, died December 20 in Mercer Medical Center.

Born in Baltimore, Mrs. King lived in the Princeton-Skillman area for 75 years. She was a self-employed seamstress. She was a member of St. Alphonso Roman Catholic Church in Hopewell and a member of the Princeton Bridge Club and the Royal 9 Club.

Widow of the late Andrew L. King, she is survived by three sons, Donald King of Trenton, Stephen King of Skillman and Robert King of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. Naomi Rodriguez of Princeton; two brothers, Leo Brisco of Princeton and Alphonso Brisco of Lawrenceville; three sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Gorleigh and Mrs. Amelia Irving, both of Princeton, and Mrs. Margaret Brisco of New York City; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The service was held in a Trenton Funeral Home with burial in Princeton Cemetery. A memorial Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 10 in St. Alphonso Roman Catholic Church, Hopewell. A Rosary will be said Sunday at 8 at the home.

see the razing, as the late Edgar Palmer was when the Playhouse opened on December 9, 1937. The movie was "The Awful Truth," with Cary Grant and Irene Dunne.

The valor of efforts to save the Playhouse is acknowledged even by those who did not agree with the Save the Playhouse committee. It is hoped that they will be willing to apply their intelligence and their zeal for culture and entertainment in downtown Princeton to whatever plans Mr. Collins develops.

cost of re-doing the plumbing and heating of the 44-year-old Square.

Someone else who wants to sit down with Mr. Collins is Mayor Robert W. Cawley. What's on his mind is--parking.

"What are their parking numbers?" Mayor Cawley wants to know. "There is a limit to how much off-street parking we'll authorize. Our limit is 1,200 spaces. They're already talking about 1,000 under the Playhouse and 600 more in garages on the west."

"Collins's plans don't wipe out the need for a Borough garage on South Tulane because of a need for a garage in that particular location," Mayor Cawley continued. "It's the area east of Witherspoon that has the most parking problems. You need more than the 250 we now have, but whether we absolutely need 450 is debatable. We might opt for 350 and lower the garage to four levels."

It will be some time before anything takes the place of the Playhouse, literally and figuratively. Mr. Collins has not yet shown any formal plans, and he must negotiate the labyrinth of municipal approval before he can break any ground.

He said last week that he had spent time--"probably too much time"--in the Playhouse as an undergraduate. It is not known whether he will be on stage to

ARCHITECTS NAMED

To Design Mobil Lab. The architectural firm of Geddes Brecher Qualls Cunningham, based in Princeton and Philadelphia, has been chosen by Mobil Oil Corporation to design the 70,000 square foot Environmental Health and Science Laboratory within the Mobil Technical Center in Hopewell Township.

The laboratory, which will have at least 90 employees, replaces a temporary facility on Princeton University's Forrestal Campus. Its purpose is to test various products of the petrochemical industry for their potential effects in both humans and animals.

The design team will be headed by Robert Geddes, Hamilton Ross, Neville Epstein and Cory English. Zion and Breen Associates will be the landscape architects.

PERSONNEL NOTES

Gerald F. Crumlish, a retired Johns Manville executive, has joined John T. Henderson, Inc.

Mr. Crumlish's career at Johns Manville spanned more than thirty-two years of sales, product management and marketing, primarily in the commercial and industrial fields. He has been a resident of Princeton for nearly 14 years and is a member of the Springdale Golf Club. Mr. Crumlish graduated from Georgetown University in 1948 and has been Chairman of the Alumni Interviewing Program for Georgetown applicants in the Central New Jersey area for 12 years.

David Redfield

Mr. Crumlish will be associated with Henderson's main office at 33 Witherspoon Street and will specialize in both residential and commercial real estate.

Dr. David Redfield, 80 Woodside Lane, an RCA Laboratories scientist, is one of two American members of the Working Group on Direct Photovoltaic Conversion of Solar Energy of the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC). The IEC coordinates international standards in electrotechnical fields.

Before joining RCA in 1967, Dr. Redfield was an associate professor of Electrical Engineering at Columbia University and did research for Union Carbide Corp. and the National Bureau of Standards. He received a B.A. degree in 1948 from UCLA, an M.S. degree in 1953 from the University of Maryland, and a Ph.D. degree in 1956 from the University of Pennsylvania.

FOUR CHOIRS TO SING

In Chapel Service. Traditional and modern Christmas Carols will be featured in a Festival Service of Lessons and Carols when the four choirs of Trinity Church sing on the First Sunday of Christmas at 11 in the Princeton University Chapel.

By invitation from the University Chapel Choir, Prof. Walter Nollner, director, the Trinity Choirs, clergy and lay readers will join readers from the University in proclaiming the Christmas story in scripture and in carols.

The combined choirs of 150 voices, conducted by James Litton with Irene Willis, organist, will sing traditional English, Czech, French and Polish carols as well as carol arrangements by David Willcocks and John Rutter following each reading in the service. At various points in the service, the congregation will join the choirs in singing favorite Christmas hymns and carols.

This Festival Service, based on the famous service sung each Christmas Eve at King's College in Cambridge, England, has been presented at Trinity Church for more than 30 years. This will be the third year that the Trinity Choirs have been invited to sing the service in the University Chapel. All are invited.

SERVICES LISTED

For Christmas, Princeton area churches will hold special services on Christmas Eve and Christmas morning.

Nassau Presbyterian Church, Nassau Street, will have a 5 p.m. Christmas Pageant for children and families on Christmas Eve. A later service of Lessons and Carols at 10 is designed primarily for adults.

Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, will hold three services on Christmas Eve. There will be a short service at 5 for young children and their families, a Festival Eucharist at 8 and again at 11. These two later services will be preceded by a half hour of carol singing.

On Christmas Day there will be a single service of Holy Eucharist at 10 a.m. at Trinity.

Members of Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Street, will meet Christmas Eve at 7:30 for caroling, followed by refreshments and a service of worship at 9. No service is scheduled for Christmas Day, but Christ Congregation will hold its annual Watch Night Service on Wednesday, December 31, at 11:30.

The Princeton United Methodist Church will hold a Family Candlelight Service on Christmas Eve at 7:30. There will be no service on Christmas Day.

The Community Christmas Eve Service at the Princeton University Chapel will be held at 8 on Christmas Eve. On Christmas Day there will be a service of Holy Communion at 11.

The Lutheran Church of the Messiah, 407 Nassau Street, will have a Sunday School Children's Service with candlelighting at 7 on Christmas Eve, and at 11 there will be a candlelighting carol communion service. The Christmas Day service will be held at 10.

The Unitarian Church of Princeton will hold a service of music and readings at 8 on Christmas Eve. The baritone Gordon Myers will sing. There will not be a service on Christmas Day.

At the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Princeton Junction, there will be a 7:30 vesper candlelight service featuring the junior and senior choirs to which children are especially invited and an 11 p.m. service of communion.

The Pennington Methodist Church, South Main Street, will hold a Candlelight Service at 7 on Christmas Eve and the traditional candlelight Choral Communion Service at 11 p.m.

Obituaries

Tiger Hockey Team in Colorado Tournament After Scoring Its First 1-0 Victory in Overtime

Its defensive skills immeasurably sharper than they were after the first four games of the season, Princeton University's hockey team will play this weekend in the Broadmoor Tournament in Colorado Springs, Colorado. The host team in the four-way event, Colorado College, will be the Tigers' opponent Saturday, with Cornell and the Air Force Academy playing Sunday night. Winners and losers will be paired for final action on Monday.

Coach Jim Higgins's skaters prepared for their appearance in Colorado with a well-deserved split in two games against the University of Minnesota-Duluth in Duluth. Friday night, they scored first but eventually lost, 3-2; Saturday, with virtually everyone in the crowd of 4,552 rooting for the home team, they won in overtime when Co-Captain Jim Farrell scored the only goal at 4:04. The triumph wrote a chapter in Princeton history: it was the first 1-0 victory in overtime since the sport was introduced here more than three quarters of a century ago. There have been three 1-1 ties, the last 18 years ago in Baker Rink with Providence.

Fine Play by Dennis. Shutouts — at least for Princeton — are also relatively rare. The Tigers were last on the right side of one two years ago when they blanked Colgate here, and had not held an opponent scoreless on the road since they beat Buffalo, 8-0, in a tournament there in 1972. Credit for the turnaround goes primarily to sophomore Ron Dennis, but he has been the recipient of far better protection than he was getting early in the season. After the opening 8-2 victory over New Hampshire, defensive problems became glaring: in games with Maine, Northeastern and Yale, the Orange and Black lost by convincing margins while yielding a total of 21 goals.

Since then, the Tigers have played a markedly better brand of hockey that has brought two victories in overtime in their last three starts. Twenty-four hours after their dismal performance against Yale, they edged Providence here, 4-3, at beat the Air Force in their meeting Saturday. The Falcons split their two games during the '70s with Princeton. Princeton will return home for its first game of the new year on Saturday, January 3, against Boston College, one of the east's best. Ivy action will resume the following weekend with a trip to Dartmouth and Harvard. The early league standings favor Cornell, the only team with no pre-Christmas Ivy games. Brown and Harvard have already split, each winning away from home, and defending champion Dartmouth, which has had trouble against independents, holds a 3-2 victory over Harvard. Princeton will seek to atone for its upset at the hands of Yale, but the loss at home will weigh heavily against the Tigers in the evenly-balanced league.

3:02 in sudden death before dividing the games in Duluth and sharply cutting their goals-allowed total from 21 in three games to 6, a 350 percent improvement and in more time on ice because of the two extra periods.

Sophomore forward Jim Matthews made both of the goals in the first game in Minnesota. After a scoreless first period, he put his team ahead at 6:45 of the middle round on a shot for which freshman Ross Lamherd drew an assist Final Goal at 19:57. The home-team Bulldogs then scored three times, two of their tallies coming on power plays, and they took their 3-1 lead down to the final seconds. The victors incurred a penalty, Higgins pulled Dennis off the ice, and with a 6-4 advantage in skaters, Matthews scored again with three seconds left. Ken Koenig and Drew Forbes assisted on this one. Shots on goal were dead even at 27 apiece.

Not so the next night, as the Orange and Black put 36 on the losers' cage to the 27 that Dennis blocked. The momentum which Princeton was able to maintain during much of the contest eventually made the difference, Farrell beating the goalie at 4:04 on passes from Keith Benker and Lambert.

While Higgins was delighted with his team's continued improvement, UMD coach Gus Hendrickson was not. Instead of hot showers after the contest, his players went through an hour's practice session as clear indication of his disapproval of their performance. The defeat left the Bulldogs with a 10-7-1 record, with Princeton now 3-4.

Colorado College, twice victor over Minnesota-Duluth this season in games played on Colorado ice, was 21-17-1 last winter and is the favorite to win its own tournament. The Colorado College Tigers have played the Princeton Tigers three times, once here and twice at home, and have yet to lose. The teams last met in Colorado in 1951.

Ivy Race Tight. Princeton's fellow Ivy team, Cornell, will take a 4-2 record into the tournament and is favored to Here's a football oddity ... There was once a major-college football player who appeared on the field with a different uniform number EVERY time he scored ... He was Bernardo Bramson, who played for the University of Maryland in 1964 ... Bramson was a kicker, and Maryland got permission from the NCAA to make Bramson a sort of human scoreboard ... Maryland changed Bramson's number with each point he scored ... For example, in one game against South Carolina, Bramson started the game wearing No. 3, then changed to No. 4 and 5 after extra points, and switched to uniform No. 8 after a field goal.

Princeton Quintet in Tournament in Oregon; Record 3-3 after 75-42 Victory over Colgate

Princeton University's basketball team took a 3-3 record westward this week, hoping to return for action in the New Year above the .500 mark. The Tigers were scheduled to play nationally-ranked Ohio State in Columbus Tuesday night and will open Saturday against the University of Rhode Island in the Far West Classic in Portland, Oregon.

In the first Sunday basketball game here, Pete Carril's quintet ran over Colgate, 75 to 42. The losers did not manage a field goal until more than 12 minutes had passed, and in the early going trailed by as much as 17 to 2.

It will be quite an accomplishment for the Orange and Black if it tops Rhode Island in the first game of the Far West tournament. The Rams are 6-0, ranked seventh best in the east, and already hold a 67-66 victory over Oregon. Working in the Tigers' favor is the fact that the Rhode Island quintet has not played since it defeated Baltimore on December 13.

Rhode Island has eight returning lettermen from a team that was 15-13 a year ago but is expected to better that mark decisively this winter. Tops among the veterans is 6-8 forward Jimmy Wright, who averaged 15.5 points and 9.1 rebounds a game last winter.

A 6-3 guard, Horace "Pappy" Owens, is the Rams' second leading scorer with a 12.3 average. Wright and center Roland Houston are the tallest players at 6-8, coached by the veteran Jack Kraft, Rhode Island will match its speed and aggressive attack against Princeton's patient percentage shooting and tight defense.

The game will be played at 6 (EST) Saturday night. Other pairings are Drake against Utah, Oregon against Cal. State Fullerton and Oregon State against Northwestern. Each team will also be in action Saturday and Sunday.

All indications are that the tournament field is one of the toughest the hattle-wise Tigers have ever entered. In addition to Rhode Island, Utah and Oregon State have yet to lose, one of Utah's seven victories including a decision over Louisville at Louisville.

Colgate Was Very Cold. Because Colgate had played Ohio State even for the first half on the Buckeyes' court, belief was Sunday's game might be close. All semblance of competition disappeared early when the visitors made just four foul shots until their first field goal was recorded with 7:58 left.

They were kept within hailing distance by a 6-4 senior, Mike Ferrara, who alternated between forward and guard and threw in 17 points in the first half to make the score at the intermission 33-21. The home team shot only 49 percent from the floor and made one free throw in four tries to keep the margin relatively narrow despite Colgate's 26 percent field goal average.

With the effective Princeton zone holding the visitors' next two "high" scorers to four points apiece and collapsing on Ferrara, who made 10 in the final period, the Tigers broke the contest open completely when play resumed. The game totals showed Ferrara, a top basketball player, with 27 points and the rest of his team with 15.

Sophomore center Rich Simkus had his best game of the season, particularly during the second half, when he scored 14 of his game-high 20 points. Most of his seven field goals were pop-ins from the lane following adroit positioning, and similar play under the Colgate boards allowed him to block five shots.

Senior guard Steve Mills added 16 points and sophomore Craig Robinson came off the bench to collect 13. Randy Melville isn't scoring much, but he contributed eight steals, several of them proving that the hand is quicker than the eye. The Tigers shot 52 percent from the floor but made only 61 percent at the line, and a performance like that may be very troublesome in the west.

A happy claque that came to watch Ferrara from his home town in McAfee provided the greatest sound in sparsely settled Jadwin whenever he connected on one of his field goals, many of them picturesque off-balance fadeaways from well out. The attendance was given as 1,150, but as someone has said before, many of the spectators were disguised as empty seats.

start at 6:30 with the championship game set for 8.

Hun will enter the tournament all even at two wins and two losses by virtue of a pulsating, 46-43 double overtime victory last week over Lawrence Township.

A layup by sophomore Paul Franzoni midway in the second overtime and a foul shot by Paul Pintella were the only points scored in both OTs. "We were fortunate Lawrence did not score," commented Hun coach Bob Hendrickson, who saw it as a combination of good Hun defense and cold — very cold — shooting by the Cardinals.

Lawrence was 0-13 in both overtime periods and 0-3 from the foul line. Hun missed all three of its shots in the first overtime and took only one in the second.

"Spine-tingling — fill in any adjective you like," said Hendrickson. It was, he agreed, a tight game.

Hun started the fourth period in regulation time owning a 37-33 lead but the visitors rallied and took a 43-41 lead. A shot by Stuart Tucker with 20 seconds left sent it in to overtime.

Two sophomores, Tucker and Pintella played the guard spots, said Hendrickson, "and controlled the game."

Pintella led the balanced Hun attack with 11 points, while Franzoni added 10, Kris Wronski 8, and Tucker and Andy Marlett, six each. Mike Barcellona, a 6-5 senior, pulled down 12 Hun rebounds.

"Two-two is a nice way to enter the Christmas break," remarked Hendrickson. "We're shooting for a .500 season so we're right on track."

PHS GIRLS AT .500

In Basketball, Princeton High School evened its record at 1-1 last week when the girls basketball team smothered Princeton Day School, 52-23.

Ahead by two after the first period, the Little Tigers erupted for 21 second-period points while holding the Panthers to 8. They continued to pour it on in the third period when they outscored PDS, 17-7.

Claire Callahan and Monica Greenland combined for 31 PHS points, Callahan hitting for 18. Kathy Kahny added 8 and Gladys Rice, 6.

PHS will be idle until a January 6 game here against McCorristin — its first Colonial Valley Conference game.

PHS MATMEN EDGED

By Freehold, 27-26. Princeton High School finished with a rush, winning four of its last five wrestling matches against Freehold Saturday, but still fell one point short, bowing 27-26.

"Even though we lost, we realize now that we've got a good chance against some of the other teams we wrestle," said PHS coach Tom Murray.

As it was, Freehold won when Murray was penalized a point for arguing with the referee during a key 170-pound match between Princeton's Brent Robinson and his opponent, Brian Antonuca.

Behind in the match, PHS was in the process of staging a comeback. Robinson was working a series of moves, going for a pin, but he couldn't turn Antonuca over, reported Murray, and switched to the other side when he was hit with a penalty point for stalling.

Coach Is Ejected. Murray objected vigorously. So vigorously, he was hit by a penalty point by the referee and when the argument continued, the referee added another. When the dispute raged on, Murray was hit with a third point and tossed out of the match.

The most penalty points that can be assessed in that situation, however, is one, Murray said. Even so, it was costly.

Robinson, wrestling up a weight from his normal 158 pounds, as were a number of PHS wrestlers, wound up winning a 9-4 decision. That narrowed the gap to 27-17. Randy Laco, the transfer from West Windsor, remained undefeated when he followed with an 8-3 decision over Bill Anderson at 188 pounds.

PHS heavyweight Alec Hoke, a sophomore, surprised the home crowd when he flattened Freehold heavyweight Greg Rice in 57 seconds. "That was a real big plus for us," said Murray. "What he needs is confidence in his own ability." Hoke had won by forfeit in the opening match against North Hunterdon.

Pin for Cramer. Geoff Cramer had started Princeton's comeback when he pinned Freehold's 148-pounder Pat Kiernan in 3:11. In other matches, however, the only points PHS could garner were at 115 pounds when Josh Miller won a 5-4 decision and at 135 pounds, where Quenton Cote won by forfeit.

In the 141-pound class, Princeton's Tony Ceden, wrestling light, lost a 6-0 decision to Tom Partes, described by Murray as Freehold's best wrestler.

PHS veteran Brian O'Grady lost a close 6-5 decision to Rich Sims in their 129-pound match, Sims winning on riding time.

PHS chances were further strained when two starters did not compete. Ken Stroman, the Little Tiger's 108 pounder, was sidelined with the flu, and Claudio D'Angelo was absent because of a death in the family.

Lions Feast on Tigers. As expected, Princeton's opening match against the Lions of North Hunterdon earlier in the week was no contest.

The home team won every bout, six by pins, until Laco pinned Mike Robinson in 1:29 in the 177-pound class. The last two bouts were forfeits, PHS having no wrestler at 188 pounds and Hunterdon forfeiting the heavyweight match, making Hoke a winner. The final score was 54-12.

Robinson was winning his 158-pound match with Ralph Folino when he got pinned in 5:01. "They're out of our class," said Murray.

HUN MATMEN DEFEATED By Wardlaw-Hartridge. "Between our injuries and their strength, we got blown out," observed Hun wrestling coach Hank Barber, in the wake of last week's 54-15 thrashing by Wardlaw-Hartridge.

A pin by Brian Murray in the opening 101-pound class, a 12-8 decision by John Crater at 135 pounds and a forfeit win were all Hun could point to. Murray, a freshman, is the only undefeated wrestler on the Hunsquad.

"It's just one of those matches you try to forget about and hope you can recoup over Christmas," said Barber. Hun will be idle until January 7 when it travels to Philadelphia for a match with Girard.

Hun had to forfeit two matches against Wardlaw, when one of its wrestlers was sidelined with an injury sustained in a moped accident and after another suffered an injury in practice.

BELMONT HILL WINS In Lawrenceville Hockey. Last a year ago—an experience it has rarely known in the Lawrenceville Hockey Tournament—the Belmont Hill School of Massachusetts won the 33d annual event last week when it defeated Avon Old Farms of Connecticut, 5 to 1, in the championship game at Lavino Rink. The title was the sixth the victors have recorded since the tournament was first staged in 1947.

Belmont Hill opened the scoring at 13:12 of the first period, was tied 90 seconds later but then registered four unanswered goals. Three of them were in the form of a hat trick credited to Scott Fusco, whose brother Mark is on the Harvard varsity.

The tournament recorded its first father-son act. Bill Cleary Jr., a member of the winning team, is the son of Harvard coach Bill Cleary, who played for Belmont Hill when it won the tournament in 1952.

Trailing Avon Old Farms in third place was Choate, which edged Hill, 2 to 1, in its final game. Kent finished fifth by beating Lawrenceville, 6-0, with Lakefield of Canada placing seventh when it won from Nichols, 2-1.

PHS Quintet Trowned by Somerville, 81-48; Holiday Break to Keep It Idle Until January 6

During the second half of Princeton High's basketball game here with Somerville last week, someone accidentally turned out the gymnasium lights.

"That was the most exciting thing that happened," said PHS coach Marvin Trotman. "Too bad," he quipped, "they didn't stay out."

Unbeaten Somerville (3-0) turned the lights out early on the Little Tigers, jumping to 8-0 and 16-2 leads in the first period. The Pioneers never stopped running and buried PHS, 81-48.

"That was embarrassing," said Trotman after the carnage was over. "Just six points in the first period? We got ourselves in a hole and never could get out."

PHS has the rest of 1980 and the first five days of '81 to regroup. The Little Tigers, at the moment, are in disarray. Against Somerville, they were five players in search of a leader.

"We've got to get some organization," acknowledged Trotman. "I didn't see anything out there I like tonight. We have 'til January 6. Hopefully, I can do my job and we'll be ready. It's a long season."

The game was a mismatch from the opening tip. The pioneers had quick hands, shot well and played a tenacious defense. Throughout, the lanes were filled with Somerville players streaking for the basket.

PHS, in turn, couldn't work the ball in. It was guilty of numerous turnovers and was barely over .500 from the foul line. Worst of all, its shots weren't dropping. In the first half, it was 16 percent — "or something anemic like that," observed Trotman.

Lid on Basket. There was a lid on the basket for Dave Barclay, who didn't get his first field goal until less than two minutes remained in the third period. Stephan Fletcher and Terry Phox, Princeton's two other guards, fared even worse. Fletcher's first points came at the 4:22 mark in the final period and Phox's only basket was Princeton's final two-pointer in the game. It was that kind of night.

In its defense, PHS went without the services of Peter Sharpless, who sat out the entire game. Sharpless had injured his knee in last week's Franklin Township opener and could have played had it been a vital game, commented Trotman.

"There was no sense in endangering his knee," continued Trotman. "This way he'll get a long rest and be ready in January." Princeton's next game will be against McCorristin on January 6.

Two baskets by Judd Petrone and one by Jerome Rex were all PHS could muster in the first period, while Somerville poured in 20, led by eight by Curtis Smith and six by 6-6 center Brian Bucklew.

Sophomore Larry McKellar, who had 15 points in Princeton's 84-72 loss to Somerville in the jayvee game, started the second period and scored six of Princeton's 11 points in the period.

PDS HOCKEY 3-3

After New England Trip. With only a game with the alumni between now and January 9, the Princeton Day hockey team will pause for the Christmas holidays. The Panthers have split their first six games.

Last week their trip to New England to the St. Marks Tournament produced one win and two losses. The high point came early, a 6-1 victory over Portsmouth Abbey in the opening round. "It could just have easily been 10-1," commented coach Harry Rulon-Miller. "And the fact that it was such an easy beginning, hurt us in the two following contests."

John Drezner scored twice, Scott and Mark Egner, Eb Metcalf and Rob Bowen once, in the rout. Roger Holloway was not particularly tested in goal.

That night in the semifinals, however, the Blue and White wound up on the short end of the same score against the host team. PDS managed to make a one-goal lead stand up five minutes into the second period, before St. Marks finally found the range.

McKellar a Catalyst. Big and strong, McKellar is a force under the boards. When he is in the lineup, things happened. "They don't push Larry around," agreed Trotman.

But McKellar fouled out with 1:28 remaining in the third period. He finished with 10 points.

Princeton made its only run to get back in the game at the start of the third period. Three baskets by Rex, a pair by McKellar, and one each by Petrone and Pat McAvonia cut Somerville's 24-point halftime lead to 17, 48-31, midway in the period. By the end of the period, however, Somerville was back on top again by 24.

At the 7:21 mark in the final period, and up 63-36, Somerville coach Neil Horne started to send in his reserves.

11 for Petrone or 9? Petrone ended with 11 points, although the score book will probably read 9. For the second time this season, PHS lost two points when the books failed to show the right score and a fourth-quarter basket by Petrone was not recorded to "balance the books."

Rex had 10 points, Barclay eight and Fletcher, four.

"We're going to get there," insisted Trotman. But if the Somerville game is an accurate barometer, the Little Tigers have a long way to go.

—Preston Eckmeyer

Eric Jensen put the Panthers ahead 1-0 when he scored on a break away early in the opening stanza. He collided with the St. Mark's goalie on the attempt, but wound up with the puck all alone in front of the net, and swept it in while on his knees.

PDS was assessed a major penalty in the second period, and that marked the turning point. By the time it had been served, St. Mark's owned a 2-1 advantage. "That seemed to deflate us," Rulon-Miller observed. Indeed it did, the winners went on to score four more times in the third period. PDS was outshot 35 to 14.

In the battle for fifth place, PDS came out flat and stayed flat, losing to Middlesex, 7-2. The winners built a 3-0 lead, before PDS scored. Scott Egner was the lone standout for the Blue and White, collecting both goals for the Panthers, who were without Drezner in this game. Dan Goldman made his first start in the goal. Again, PDS was outshot, 28-18.

The alumni game will start around 6 p.m. this Friday. PDS will then be off until Friday, January 9 when they journey to Long Island to play Friends Academy.

SAAB

Some facts for the discerning car purchaser to consider. SAAB is less expensive than Audi or Volvo. SAAB is far less expensive than B.M.W. or Mercedes Benz. SAAB offers as much if not more as standard equipment than the above four makes, without any sacrifice of quality or engineering integrity. Combine these points with the safety of a SAAB, its economy of operation and front wheel drive for outstanding traction in any weather and you have one of the best automotive buys in today's market. We have all models in stock including the magnificent 1981 SAAB 900 Turbo Sedan, and our prices are the best you can get. call us today, 609 882 7600 or better still come in and drive a SAAB at Sports & Specialist Cars 1641 N. YWCA PLANS WORKSHOPS

On Female Sexuality. The Princeton YWCA will hold a day of workshops, films, and shared perceptions on female sexuality on Saturday, January 17. Women of all ages and interests are urged to enroll before January 9 in this professionally-led program, offered in response to requests communicated to the YWCA ever since its first Sexuality Special Day held seven years ago.

According to Arlene Ber- man, adult Program Director, the first female sexuality program was a tremendous success. "In those days it was a dynamic, almost shocking, idea," she says. "Women were just beginning to speak openly to one another about intimacy, sex, and love." The 1981 seminar will offer females a forum to share their perceived gains (and-or losses) in sexual insight and freedom experienced since those early days of "liberation."

The morning of workshops will be complemented by candid films on sensuality and sexual relations, chosen by a committee of YWCA volun-

IT'S NOT A DOG, IT'S A HORSE: Or, to be exact, a Belgian miniature pony. Being nuzzled is 18-month-old Erica Abelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Abelson. The ponies, being walked on Nassau one fine Saturday morning by owner Kim Cifelli, answer to "Ginger" and "Fire and Ice." Care for a pair under your Christmas tree? (Betty Sapoch photo) teers headed by Marge Smith, and assisted by Linda Meisel of the Princeton Family Service Agency.

Two of the seminars to be offered are "Sexuality: Interaction of Feeling and Behavior in Masturbation, Orgasm, Intercourse, and Other Experiences," taught by Dr. Enid Campbell, sex therapist and professor of psychology at Trenton State College; and "Stumbling Blocks to Intimate Communication: How Can We Get Closer?," which has been prepared by Mimi Winterbottom, senior staff psychologist at Princeton University's Counseling Center.

Dr. Campbell is especially interested in the ways women can "get in touch with the sexual messages of their lives, which come to them continuously from the media, their parents, men." Says Dr. Campbell, "After women begin to recognize these messages, they can sift through them and acknowledge their actual sexual needs and desires." One of the issues she will address is the excessive emphasis women are taught to place on visual stimuli and appearances.

Ms. Winterbottom will focus on intimate communication, the words, gestures, and habitual acts which can pull a couple closer together or drive them irreparably apart. She points out that "sexual intimacy does not guarantee emotional intimacy—many people have one but not the other." In her workshop the participants will share thoughts "on how to open up, become more vulnerable, be more caring and less fearful." "Female Sexuality—A Process of Change" will be held in the YM-YWCA on Paul Robeson Place, on Saturday, January 17, from 9 to 3. A registration fee of $12 includes lunch. Discounts are available to students and women over 60 years of age. Enrollment will be limited. Brochures are available at the YWCA or the Princeton Public Library, or by calling 924-5571.
